SUBJECT: COVID-19 Vaccination of Children Over 6 Months of Age

AUDIENCE: Nonappropriated and Appropriated Fund Employees

ACTION: Disseminate to Department of Defense (DoD) Human Resources Practitioners

REFERENCE: The Office of Personnel Management (OPM) memorandum, "COVID-19 Vaccination of Children Over 6 Months of Age," June 22, 2022, (attached)

BACKGROUND/INTENT: On June 22, 2022, OPM issued above reference due to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's (FDA) approval of the use of the Pfizer-BioNTech and Moderna COVID-19 vaccines for children ages 6 months through 5 years. The OPM memorandum reminds Federal agencies of the requirement to provide administrative leave to Federal employees who accompany a family member, as defined in 5 C.F.R. 630.201, who is receiving a COVID-19 vaccination. Due to the FDA's approval, administrative leave can now be granted to Federal employees accompanying a family member who is within the age range stated above.

DoD incorporated the overarching administrative leave requirement into its Force Health Protection guidance. The latest version of this guidance may be found at:

Memorandum for Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies

Director

Subject: COVID-19 Vaccination of Children Over 6 Months of Age

On June 17, 2022, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved use of the Pfizer-BioNTech and Moderna COVID-19 vaccines for children ages 6 months through 5 years. Following the FDA's approval, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommended on June 18, 2022, that everyone ages 6 months through 5 years should get a COVID-19 vaccination to help protect against COVID-19. This is an expansion of CDC's previous recommendation that children age 5 and older should be vaccinated.

Based on President Biden's continued direction that the Federal Government should work aggressively to maximize the number of people receiving the COVID-19 vaccination, the Safer Federal Workforce Task Force previously issued guidance directing Federal agencies to grant administrative leave so that Federal employees may accompany their children who are getting a COVID-19 vaccine. This guidance now applies to employees with children ages 6 months through 5 years, since those children are vaccine-eligible. OPM encourages agencies to make sure employees are aware of this policy through outreach to their workforce.

As a reminder, the following frequently asked question is posted at <https://www.saferfederalworkforce.gov/faq/leave/>:

Q: Must an agency grant administrative leave to cover the period of time it takes an employee to accompany a family member who is receiving a COVID-19 vaccination?

A: Yes, an agency must grant administrative leave to federal employees who accompany any family member who is receiving a COVID-19 vaccination.

Based on President Biden's direction that the Federal Government should work aggressively to maximize the number of people receiving the COVID-19 vaccination, the Administration has determined that, going forward, agencies must grant administrative leave to federal employees who accompany their family members who are receiving any dose of a COVID-19 vaccination. For this purpose, a "family member" is an individual who meets the definition of that term in OPM's leave regulations (see 5 CFR 630.201).

Under this policy, agencies must grant leave-eligible employees up to four hours of administrative leave per dose—for example, up to a total of twelve hours of leave for a family member receiving three doses—for each family member the employee accompanies. (If an employee needs to spend less time accompanying a family member who is receiving the COVID-19 vaccine, only the needed amount of administrative leave should be granted.) Employees should obtain advance approval from their supervisor before being permitted to use administrative leave for COVID-19 vaccination purposes. Employees may not be credited with administrative leave or overtime work for time spent outside their tour of duty helping a family member get vaccinated. This policy applies to covered vaccinations received after posting of this FAQ on July 29, 2021.

As stated above, the above guidance now can be applied to employees with children ages 6 months through 5 years, since those children are vaccine-eligible. An employee may receive administrative leave in connection with the vaccination of a child if that child is a qualifying family member of the employee under 5 CFR 630.201—i.e., the child is (1) a biological, adopted, step or foster child of the employee; (2) a legal ward of the employee; (3) a person for whom the employee stands in loco parentis; or (4) a child of the employee's spouse or domestic partner under the terms described in conditions (1)-(3).

We note that administrative leave is granted not only in connection with accompanying family members to obtain a primary vaccination but also to obtain a booster shot for those who are eligible to receive one or an additional dose for immunocompromised individuals. See guidance on booster shots issued by the CDC at: <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/vaccines/booster-shot.html>.

Additional Information

Agency headquarters-level human resources offices may contact OPM at pay-leave-policy@opm.gov. Component-level human resources offices must contact their agency headquarters for assistance. Because the granting of administrative leave is administered by employing agencies, employees must contact their agency human resources for further information regarding this matter.
